Subject: Microsoft case

Hi

I wish this case to be settled fair. You see Microsoft can see on your harddrive and can tell what programs you have,so they can tell what programs still have part of the market under Windows and that is bad. They can put man power to target them. I could go on for hours but your job is stop letting them looking on peoples harddrive. Let third party companys have a chance to put their product out there. AOL needs to be given even footing with Microsoft. Windows must be put basically in to a position not to be able to read the programs installed on your computer. Xp could be the end of lots of companies if it isn't limited. I hope Microsoft practices will be stoped or we will be paying large prices for operating systems and companies like SUN , AOL and other will fade away. Thank you for your time.
